Most Affordable Franchises in South Africa

There are different categories that make for brilliant, affordable franchise options.

Cleaning Franchises

Who has the time to clean when you're juggling full-time jobs, children, and a life? These days, it is tough knowing who to trust in your home, with your stuff. It's also difficult hiring independent cleaners because you need to manage contracts and find out the right amount to pay, etc.

This is what makes cleaning franchises a great option to invest in. Most people want someone to assist with their cleaning jobs, both residential and commercial properties. With so many opportunities open, cleaning franchises are an excellent, affordable option for those looking to buy a franchise.

Marvellous Maids and Crisp and Clean are just some of the cleaning franchises for sale that offer an agency solution. These are more popular to the public than hiring privately, as all paperwork and reliability checks are done, and typically the agency will provide the tools and chemicals!

Alternative Energy / Solar Franchises

One cheap franchise that is up and coming is the alternative energy and solar energy franchise. People are becoming increasingly aware of living sustainably – more and more people are opting to go off the grid, and it's no wonder when load-shedding and an unreliable source of electricity hinder our quality of living. They are still relatively new to the South African market but are certainly starting to take their place as the more popular option among other electricity resources.

Kids-related Franchises for Education

With the rise of remote work and learning, additional education has become more important as children (especially) adapt to the new normal. Tutors and online educators are enjoying the rise of business as parents look for ways to assist their children. Because of this, Business for Sale experts have seen a rise in popularity for remote educational franchises like Tutor Doctor and Kumon.

Tax and Business-Related Franchises

Franchises that assist business owners with pesky tasks like tax and other business registration services are increasingly in demand. With remote work becoming the focus, business owners don't have time for administrative tasks that take a lot of time.
