About the Business:

Small Wholesale Bakery Business

Are you looking to step into a thriving, easy-to-operate, small wholesale bakery business? Here's your chance to own a well-established bakery specializing in the wholesale production of quality cookies and rusks. This small yet profitable business for sale is set up to serve a diverse customer base, including budget-focused wholesalers, independent retailers, and delis. With a carefully curated product line catering to various tastes and price points, this bakery is poised to continue its success under new ownership.

The bakery's core business is its bulk cookies, which are made available at competitive rates, ensuring a steady demand among budget-conscious wholesalers and retail outlets. These cookies provide value without compromising taste, making them a popular choice for high-volume buyers.

For customers catering to more discerning customers, the bakery also offers a higher-end selection of cookies and rusks. Made with premium ingredients, these items are a popular choice for delis and selected retail shops that prioritize quality and are willing to pay a little extra.

The bakery's production process is streamlined, with trained staff and efficient systems to maintain consistent quality across all product lines. Additionally, this business model allows flexibility in adapting and expanding product offerings based on demand. Current owners have laid a strong foundation, and a new owner can explore expanding the product line, introducing seasonal flavours, or venturing into other baked goods and treats.

The business currently distributes directly to its customers and does not operate a retail storefront. This leaves an opportunity for a new owner to expand by establishing a retail section for direct sales to the public in the future.

With a loyal customer base and a strong foothold in the local market, this bakery is well-positioned for continued success. Its operations are fully established, with tried-and-true recipes, reliable supplier relationships, and a skilled team already in place—making this a seamless and rewarding opportunity for a new owner to step in and thrive.

If you're an entrepreneur or a baking enthusiast ready to own a reliable, scalable business, this bakery presents an exceptional opportunity.

The selling price excludes stock of ± R61,500.
