Agents Comments

The current owner has built this salon into a well-established, successful business and is now ready to scale back. Ideally, they're looking for a talented local hairdresser with an existing clientele to take over and continue the legacy. With this arrangement, the current owner and their partner will remain on-site to serve their own clients, ensuring a smooth and gradual transition.

This unique setup offers the new owner a rare opportunity: over the next few years, as the current owners ease into retirement, they'll seamlessly hand over their loyal clients, building the new owner's book and strengthening customer relationships.

This is more than just acquiring a salon—it's an opportunity to step into an already successful operation with mentorship, support, and a ready-made client base to grow your own thriving business.
